

THE COMPUTER EDITION

THE GAME OF MORAL DILEMMAS

A Question of Scruples is a unique adult game that dares you to face up to some intriguing moral dilemmas. You are posed a variety of provocative questions which determine whether you and your friends have scruples.

The computer version is ingenious and funny. You can play by yourself or with friends. All participants choose a computer persona from a gallery of interesting pseudo personalities – you'll soon get to know them like old friends.

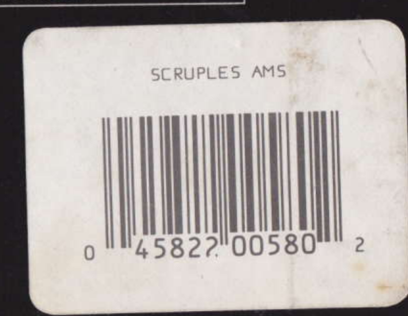

You have the opportunity to answer truthfully "would you appear nude in a magazine for money" – or to deceive – "have you ever gone through a red light in an empty street at 4am?"

Either way you could be called upon to justify your reply by the other players – the Jury.

Through bluff and counterbluff, truthfulness and deception, Computer A Question of Scruples will surprise you – not least when the computer catches you out.

Contains computer program and instruction book.

MADE IN ENGLAND

A QUESTION OF SCRUPLES

A QUESTION OF SCRUPLES

A QUESTION OF SCRUPLES
Leisure
Genius
® REGISTERED
TRADE MARK

